This intriguing poem, Lot's Wife, by Anna Akhmatova, translated by Richard Wilbur, takes an age old story that has been passed down from generation to generation, and tells it from a new perspective, that of Lot's wife. The Genesis story of Lot's family is told practically, without giving much insight into emotions or thoughts of the people involved.

As with all translated poems it is often hard to fully grasp the full meaning of this short, downhearted poem, It's Raining. Originally, It's Raining was called Il Pleut before its translation. I think It's Raining is about depression caused by war and it uses the weather to help symbolise those feelings. That opinion is informed by Apollinaire's life experiences.
