How to Write an Introduction. To write an introduction, be mindful of what it's supposed to achieve. The main goals here are to draw in your reader -- a relative stranger, most of the time -- and concisely let her know what the article is about. Generally, that consists of three key components: Step 1) Grab the reader's attention.

How to Write an Introduction: A Simplified Guide - HubSpot

Transition: The hook grabs your attention and then leads the reader into the transition. The transition is usually a sentence that connects the hook to the body of the post and clarifies the title. This is how you lead people through your blog entry. 3. Thesis: The last element of an introduction is the thesis.

It can really be a terrible experience to write your first blog post simply because you are new to the game. Every expert blogger today was once at that point of a "first blog post" so you are the first to feel that way. I got that same experience in the month of August 2012, and truth is, I didn't know what I was doing.
